Providence Saint John's Game Plan for Health: A Men's Wellness Fair

Your Best Defense Starts with Prevention

Saturday, Aug. 29 | 2 to 6 p.m. | Providence Saint John's Health Center | Parking Lot A

At Providence Saint John's Health Center, we believe a healthy community supports the well-being of all its members through prevention, education, connection and access to trusted resources.

Our Men's Wellness Fair will bring caregivers, clinicians and community members together for an afternoon of cancer awareness, health education and connection. Just as every successful team relies on a strong game plan, men can build their own strategy for lifelong wellness through prevention, screenings, nutrition and healthy habits.

Guests can connect with trusted health experts, explore wellness resources and create a personalized game plan for better health in a welcoming setting featuring family-friendly games, rides and fair-inspired activities.

Sponsored by the Ruth and Milton Berman Family Mentorship Fund, established by the Sara Rutenberg and Andy Berman families to support cancer patients throughout their journey, this event fosters connection, education and support for men and their families.
